Vice Chancellor

The success of every program depends upon the strategies that are infused into a system and monitored for anticipated results. That is why it is very important for an institution like Bugema University to formulate a strategic plan to direct all the activities of the Council, Administrators and all stakeholders. Such a strategic plan must be wholistic and holistic encompassing the philosophy, mission and vision of the institution.

With the expiry of the old strategic plan in 2017, there arose a need to put a new strategic plan in place. This was an important event in the life of the institution because formulating a new strategic plan called for competent, selfless and committed members who could form a committee to deal with the logistics of a strategic plan.

On behalf of the University administration I would like to thank all the members of the strategic planning committee who spent many hours to make sure that Bugema University gets a strategic plan running for 10 years. I want to admit that this is the strategic plan for the university which has left nothing behind for the wholistic and holistic development of the university.

As we all know the successful implementation of this strategic plan involves all hands on deck. All stakeholders have something to do in order to fulfill the objectives of the strategic plan. Therefore, on behalf of the University administration I would like to request all the users of this strategic plan to put in their best allowing the plan to direct all the activities of the University, and referring to it always for any program initiation and implementation.

It is my hope that by 2027 we can all celebrate together looking at where we are now and where we will be by then. Be a part of history. The implementation stage has begun, and we need to work together for the good of Bugema University.

God bless Bugema University and all her well wishers

Prof. Patrick Manu
Vice Chancellor

Forward

Chairman University Council

Stiff competition in the area of University education is a reality which is here to stay for so many years to come. In order to remain relevant and survive in such an environment, Bugema University must adopt a survival strategy which blends, a God driven mission, customer responsive service and a performance-indicator human resource engagement policy. For Bugema University, growth in numbers, programs, finances and facilities should come as a result of God's blessing, professional performance of both the management and the human resource; as well as customer confidence in the overall service delivery of the institution and its constituent units.

As faith based Christian institution it is important to notice that God wishes that His people shall grow and expand in all aspects for the glory of His name: "Enlarge the place of your tent, And let them stretch out the curtains of your dwellings; Do not spare; Lengthen your cords, And strengthen your stakes. For you shall expand to the right and to the left, And your descendants will inherit the nations, And make the desolate cities inhabited. (Isaiah 54:2,3 NKJV)

God has already cast a vision for growth and expansion for His people and the work they do in His name for the service of humanity. He challenges us to do our work, with approaches which promote enlargement, open-mindedness, optimistic thinking, and the promotion of the strong stakes of sound values and practices.

Growth and success of any sort are not achievements which are easily attained. They require discipline, hard work, focus and good coordination. It is my wish that the 2017-2027 Strategic Plan will be a tool to steer Bugema University and its workforce to greater heights of growth and quality services.

Pastor Dr. Matte Daniel
University Chancellor

Introduction

With the entry of the Adventist Church in Uganda in 1927 came also the first Adventist educational institution in Nchwanga in West Central Uganda. As in most cases of pioneering ventures, the primary function of the institution was to train pastors and church workers. In 1948 the institution moved to a newly purchased property of 640 acres in Bugema, 34 Kilometers from Kampala. Two years later a secondary education at 'O' level was started. By 1970 a junior college began its operations training pastors for the field. Four years later, the denomination upgraded the institution into a four-year seminary, granting bachelor's degrees in theology (BTh). In 1985 business was added, and in 1990 education. In 1994, the institution obtained a government license to operate as a university. The Adventist Accrediting Association (AAA) visited the University in 1995 and recommended accreditation to Bachelor of Theology, Bachelor of Business Administration (in Management and Accounting), and Bachelor of Arts in Religion.

Subsequent visit of the AAA and International Board of Education (IBE) allowed the university to restructure their programs under two schools: School of Arts and Social Sciences and School of Business. The former includes four departments: Development Studies, Education, Social Work, and Theology and Religious Studies. The later includes three departments: Accounting and Finance, Management, and Information Technology.

Under these departments, the university offers 12 degree programs with various majors and several vocational certificates and professional licenses.

New economic, political, technological and social conditions in both the National and International domains offer unprecedented opportunities as well as significant but still insufficiently understood threats to our communities and to our profession. As such, the mission of Bugema is more critical than ever. Adapting to this new and uncertain global economy requires education flexibility, resiliency and innovation. Secondly, the NCHE as a requirement expects all training institutions to exhibit their directions for a specified number of years as a way of measuring growth and the continuous improvement of quality. Yet at the same time the Sustainable Development Goals are addressed through the promotion of gender equality, environmental sustainability and creating partnerships for development.

True to the calling of Bugema University, we have revised our strategic plan (2006-2016) in response to the emerging trends in education uneven economic performance, demographic shifts, disruptive political conditions that have all significantly impacted the mission of the University over the past few years.

The new plan (2017-2027) recognizes and addresses these new realities while strengthening and building on our existing strengths and testing new strategies, adapting new technologies and nurturing new collaborations.

3.2.2 Increasing access to Higher Education based on the Adventist philosophy of education to the community

Bugema University through increasing access to higher education is dedicated to educating today's students for tomorrow's human resource. Therefore to meet the workplace dynamics, Bugema University shall promote excellence in teaching, research and community engagement.

The University has a range of programmes that provide students with skills, right attitudes and opportunities to obtain the knowledge necessary to satisfy the requirements for entry-level all to sorts of jobs. This acts as a foundation towards raising the student numbers. The following strategies will be undertaken to increase access to the programmes;

a) Existing programmes

In addition to delivering the existing programmes in the highest standards of quality;

- There will be need for reviewing of the these programmes to make them suitable for (morning, evening, online, weekend) on various campuses.
- Transfer of credit units shall also be streamlined
- Bridge programmes shall also be considered

b) Develop new programmes

Bugema University will strive to develop new educational programmes that addresses to the changing needs of the workplace. Through research and constant environmental scan, the University will identify clients' needs and develop market oriented programmes. This will be guided by the curriculum development policy.

On average two to three programmes will be added to the institute's portfolio per academic year. Key considerations will be given to community needs, sustainability, relevance of the programme to the Bugema's vision and mission.

In the next ten years the different schools shall develop various programmes as need arise.

c) Increase number of students

Bugema University is currently operating below the desired capacity and below are the key proposed strategies to boost the student numbers;

- Quality of programmes; the university has seen a steady increase in the number of students in different programmes over the last couple of years, this has been attributed to the quality of programmes and increase in the number of campuses.

- Quality education standard will also be set, maintained, monitored and evaluated to ensure that the quality of programmes at Bugema University parallels and in some aspects surpasses those of highly reputable local and international institutions. The key attributes of the programmes will be;

- Practical skills (maintain higher than average)
- Higher level of thinking skills (critical and reflective practices), and
- Leadership
- d) Sales and Marketing

Bugema University will engage in marketing as a drive towards increasing the number of students and subsequently positioning its products. To this effect, the following marketing strategies will be employed;

- Develop business plans

As a means of increasing access to Higher Education, the marketing department will have to design a business plan to guide its investment, these five primary elements (the university vision, mission statement, critical success factors, strategies and actions for objectives, and a prioritized implementation timeline) of the plan will guide its formulation.

For proper execution, a business plan shall cover a period of three (3) years since the activities are repetitive for the next three years as and when facilities allow.

- Programme pricing

A mid-level ground selling strategy is recommended for the University that should ensure gaining market share yet at the same time retain a grip on the quality of its product. This will allow University to;

- Traverse a careful path between penetrative and scheming pricing strategies for both new and existing programmes.

- Benchmark other institutions while pricing the new programmes to remain competitive in the industry.

- Promotional activities

Various promotional activities shall be employed to basically create visibility in the bid to expose what Bugema University offers.

These promotions will cater for both new and on-going programmes and such promotions among others may include;

- Participation in regional and local events
- Designing highly interactive and visible Alumni engagement programmes. All these will remind the community of what Bugema University has been known for and still continues to be, and therefore positioning Bugema University in the daily customers' mind.

- Opening robust online degree programmes especially at all levels

- Create/or increase Investment in e-resources. Where academics and students have good access to e-content, effectively the library will open 24 hours irrespective of building opening hours

- Provide leadership and expertise in the use of information and information technologies

- Participate in networks that enhance access to resources outside the institute or community.

f) Consolidate and strengthen campuses to reach the quality standards that can be seen at the main campus and meeting the requirements of NCHE.

a) Research grants.

- The University will from time to time seek out the available opportunities for funds to undertake research in the different suitable areas.

- Bugema University will come up with a research agenda that should guide its research direction. The nature of research will be both academic and applied cutting across all schools but controlled through a research unit.

b) Direct investments/Viable Enterprises.

Bugema University will engage in direct business enterprises to further support growth and sustain ability

c) Partnerships and collaborations

Bugema University will seek out for relevant partnerships and collaborations in order to boost its internal competencies.

- Bugema University will keep on the lookout for consultancy opportunities that can boost its revenue and interaction with its surrounding in line with its vision and mission.

- The University will develop a policy to regulate consultancy engagements and management

3.2.3 Mobilise Financial Resources as per the annual targets

This strategic objective aims at ensuring that there is a clear, systematic, predictable and well coordinated approach to soliciting, acquiring, utilisation, management, reporting, monitoring, and evaluating of the generated resources. While implementing this strategy Bugema University will underscore the following;

- Enhance the effectiveness of development assistance in and around the country

- Improve relations and dialogue between Bugema University and partners

- Improve structures and systems to facilitate better management of resources;

- Align Bugema University support to wider Adventist Community Common Agenda, priority areas, systems, and

- Increase internal resource mobilisation and broaden the resource channels by exploring alternative sources of funding in order to reduce dependence on tuition.

3.2.4 Business Process Management and Quality Assurance

This strategic objective will target both Business process management (BPM) and Quality Assurance (QA). BPM will aim at a systematic approach to making Bugema University's workflow more effective, efficient and capable of adapting to an ever-changing environment. This will enable the University to accomplish the specific university's goals as and when needed. The questions of time activities are supposed to last and creation of accountability phases at each and every stage of a process will be paramount. Questions of registration time, requisition time and document processing will be accounted for.

The promotion of quality in Bugema University is one of the most important activities within the University setting both as a requirement for the vision and mission, but also by NCHE. Bugema University will need to train more personnel in quality assurance monitoring as well as quality assurance management in all schools and administrative units.

3.2.5 Integration of the Adventist philosophy of education in the University

A core concept in the Adventist philosophy of education is the "integration of faith and learning". This construct will be seen as a distinctive ingredient of SDA education that must be nurtured in an assertive and on-going manner. This integration will be realized through curriculum reviews, on-campus conduct, offices practicing what the Adventist philosophy agitates.

3.2.6 Develop Bugema University Vocational Institute and Bugema Adventist Primary School

Develop BUVT into a model Vocational Institute. BUVT will be helped to be upgraded into a modern model Vocational Institute. This will be achieved through creating funding opportunities such as;

- From partnerships with local communities
- Partnerships with Public and Private Sector
- Open up business outlet for BUVT products

Bugema Adventist Primary School will be upgraded into a competitive and attractive Primary School that will see its growth and become self-sustaining. To achieve this it will need to create a facial lift for the school, construct dormitories, library, laboratory and classrooms. Equipment such as computers, laboratory and other related materials will be needed.

3.3 Cross-Cutting Strategic Issues

Universities being institutions of higher learning can by the mere fact that they are dominated by youths – male and female facilitate the access to HIV/AIDS and drug abuse information, education on all other avenues that can endanger their lives, care and treatment. Bugema University will endeavour to equitably deliver its services by purposefully targeting the involvement of all gender, age groups, those with HIV/AIDS and persons with disabilities. It will equally, be mindful of environmental concerns as guided by NEMA Act and guidelines plus Equal Opportunities Commission guidelines on both students and staff.

3.3.1 Gender and Equity

Issues of unequal treatment or perceptions of individuals based on their gender is one of the key aspects to be addressed during the implementation process. Gender issues in an equitable manner will be addressed in the following ways; Female, both the youth and mature, and male, both the youth and mature students will be engaged in various university activities on an equal basis. This will greatly improve their potential both in and out of the university.

3.3.2 HIV/AIDS and Sports

No parent sending his/her child to University would give any thought to the possibilities of contracting HIV while pursuing their studies, however, in a world where HIV/AIDS is increasingly infecting and affecting the poor, young and female, growing attention is paid to the development of innovative approaches aimed at enhancing the effectiveness of the interventions to halt the further spread of the pandemic.

HIV/AIDS prevalence in Uganda has stagnated over the last couple of years. This state of affairs calls for action to avoid the reversal of the progress registered in its control in the last two decades and therefore messages on HIV/AIDS prevention will be continually disseminated to stakeholders.

Sports therefore has been identified as a new and important resource for reaching the youth whose prior concerns and interests are not necessarily how to protect themselves from HIV/AIDS. Sports has moreover been recognized a right of all men and women without discrimination grounded on the principles of dignity and equality. That is why sports in Bugema University should not be subjected to the faith limitations but rather as a means to empower the youth protect themselves against HIV/AIDS.

Bugema University will develop partnerships with key stakeholders to strengthen access to HIV prevention, testing, support and treatment within the University. HIV/AIDS policy at the University will be developed in addition to the dissemination of HIV/AIDS information to both students and staff. Sensitizations /awareness/counselling /voluntary testing campaigns will be promoted among the students and staff.

3.3.3 Environment and Climate change definitely matters to the University

The temperatures are going up. According to the World Bank Group's "Turn Down the Heat" reports, the planet could warm from its current global mean temperature of 0.8°C above pre-industrial levels to as high as 4°C by 2100, even if countries fulfil current emission-reduction pledges. This rise in temperatures can particularly affect all the University activities.

It is known that universities use firewood for cooking, yet it is a source of environmental degradation. On the other hand Universities possess farms either for food supply or for training purposes which means that protecting the environment is of utmost importance. Striving for environmental excellence runs parallel to achieving distinction in academics. Environmental governance has also become a structural part of the University framework through the Bugema University Green Consumer Initiatives and thinking that any major structural undertaking is to be done in light of its effect to the environment. This will encourage and support a responsible concern for environmental issues, promote sustainable development in the University and require that all academic activities are held in accordance to NEMA Act and guidelines.

3.3.4 A key factor in Uganda's financial and social prosperity

Higher education is one of the key issues fundamental to the growth and strength of society. The importance of education must be expressed by government, fostered by all parts of the education sector and supported by the community. Bugema University, with its range of academic programmes, strong links with industry and an impressive record is well positioned to lead the country in this endeavour and achieve a lasting impact on society.

3.3.5 Realizing Bugema University's potential

In a climate of continuing higher education deregulation and increasing competition from many new growing Universities, it is crucial to maximise technological advances in programme delivery and relevance, both academically and commercially, while ensuring academic quality. Bugema University has greater flexibility and opportunities for increasing and diversifying revenue for financial sustainability through becoming an IT hub for Luwero and the surrounding communities, while sustaining discipline and managing student and staff diversity.

3.3.6 The quality of education

As many Universities emerge coupled with the increase in search for higher learning growing greater than before, the quality of education must constantly change. Bugema University should continually embrace new methods of teaching, new technology and adopt a comprehensive customer service ethos in order to compete for funding and students in the international arena. The University is particularly committed to ensuring high levels of quality and appreciates the role of the NCHE in its regulatory of ensuring that quality cuts across all training institutions of higher learning.

3.3.7 A tradition of innovation

Bugema University being rural based with vast resources provides a rich learning environment where innovative and creative ideas flourish. Throughout its history, the University has fostered an environment where individuals can learn of the wide-ranging opportunities to be gained from being innovative, dynamic, forward-looking and responsive to change. Graduates from Bugema University can go out into the world confident that they have skills to make an impact.

3.3.8 Inclusive policy

Bugema University will be a supportive and engaging place for all the students and staff at large. The University shall build a community that values, celebrates and responds to diversity in all forms including religion. It is underpinned by respectful relationships among students and other University community members. It is supported by collaborative relationships with parents and communities through communication, learning, partnerships, participation and consultative decision making.

3.3.9 Harnessing Uganda's Vision 2040

Bugema University is in line with taking the opportunities that lie within its micro and macro environment. Vision 2040 looks towards creating opportunities in agriculture, tourism, ICT, mineral exploration and oil and gas that are seen as the future for Uganda's advancement. Bugema University should position itself in the right place and time to take advantage of this by preparing its graduates to fit in the vision. Heavy investment in ICT, agriculture related programmes, tourism and minerals related areas will position us as we move into a middle income country.

3.3.10 2048 Centennial

As we prepare for the next ten years, the journey for Bugema University is traced from 1948 and in 2048 will be making 100 years. As we celebrate this achievement Bugema University should be able to showcase world class infrastructure, alumni profile since 1948, Eco Hotel, patents in agricultural products, renewable energy (bio gas and solar energy), well Established Endowment Funds.

5.1 Implementation Strategy

- i. The Strategic Direction will run for the next ten years right from 2017-2027. The activities will be carried out as promptly as stated within the given time line.
- ii. As a way of operationalizing the strategic objectives, each campus, school, department or unit will be responsible for formulating its respective business plans and design their respective strategies that will fit into the main strategic plan to achieve the key strategic activities and milestones captured within the strategic objectives.
- iii. The Strategic Plan Steering Committee will, as soon as the Strategic Plan has been commissioned go through all the schools, administrative and support units; and campuses to give guidance on how to develop work plans that should reflect what has been covered in the Strategic Plan.
- iv. Every campus, school, department or unit will closely work under the supervision of the person or persons responsible for a given strategic activity.
- v. The activities herein will be streamlined through the university's annual budgets, and respective individual annual plans plus quarterly management goals for the staff within the various campuses, schools, departments or units.

- vi. The activities of the plan will furthermore cascade downwards to the various areas in a bid to ensure effective implementation of the strategies.
- vii. These activities will also be implemented in light of the existence of various policies and regulations in place to ensure consistence and compliance.

5.2 Financing Strategy

- i. The university will require considerable resources in order to be able to achieve its goals and objectives over the next ten years despite its limited available revenue.

At the same time, all operational costs, maintenance costs, plus minor investments will be covered from internally generated sources. However, the university will mobilise funds for major capital investments using various financing options such as its own formed enterprises, concessionary loan financing from its affiliates, PPP arrangements, grants from various partners, among others.

5.3 Stakeholder Engagement

- i. The aspiration for stakeholder management is a commitment of the university to meet the needs and surpass the expectations of its various stakeholders. The Management of stakeholders refers to the ability to assess the needs, plan for and implement activities geared towards addressing the needs of the different partners in service. adding engagements. In this way, the university will enhance its accountability to its various stakeholders.

The appointed person or committee will be reporting to Council on an appointed time to enable Council follow through all the stages of implementation, but also increase their touch on the ground in the university.
- ii. In order to ensure effective implementation of this Strategic Plan, the university will introduce a balanced scorecard coupled with an Annual Evaluation System to monitor progress made in the implementation of the strategic objectives. The proposed scorecard will greatly contribute to setting targets and performance criteria within the annual budget and respective annual campus, school, departmental or unit plans and monitoring progress made by the university in its achievement of the set targets.
- iii. Council will conduct annual evaluation of the Strategic Plan and assess progress in implementing the plan, including proposing any necessary adjustments. ## 6.0 Operationalisation of the Strategic Plan

Bugema University has set before itself an ambitious ten-year Strategic Plan that has been broken down into six (6) strategic objectives, as it embarks on the journey to realise its vision. These strategic objectives necessitate broad activities be undertaken in order to ensure the success of each strategy; and the estimated costs for these activities together with other financial projections have been collated into a high level budget. The underlying drive that underpin these financial projections, have been broadly stated in the implementation matrix section 4.0.

Strategies have been developed to ensure adequate financial resources to run the envisaged programmes. The financial strategies shall be stretched right from internal collections from students, seeking grants from Private and Public sector institutions to pursuing partnerships with other institutions. These measures shall generate more funds for the University and enable provision of quality services to the students and staff. The drafted indicative investment and implementation plan (appendix I) is to guide operationalisation process of this Strategic Plan

The proposed investment need for the Strategic Plan 2017 – 2027 therefore is UGX 145,268,769,786 (USD 40,352,436) as indicated in appendix I
